Later from Europe.

By the arrival of the British steamer Forewood on Saturday, at 8, p. m., we have later intelligence from the Atlantic States and Europe. The Overland Mail arrived at San Francisco, Sept. 5, having left St. Louis, Aug. 15th. We are indebted to the S. F. Herald for the following summary:—

The steamers City of Baltimore and North America had arrived with dates from Liverpool to August 3—three days later than former advices.

There had been no further development as to the Peace Conference.

The continental news is of a pacific character.

France was preparing for a general disarmament.

The French Rhine army had been dissolved.

A new Indian loan of £5,000,000 has been announced.

Intelligence from Cochin China tells of losses sustained by the allied forces, and says that great sickness prevails there. The natives fight bravely, and it was said that the French Admiral had applied for reinforcements.

The Monitor announces the dissolution of the army of the Rhine, though the Camp Chloens and Elfant remain established.

The Times' Paris correspondent says the Emperor is very anxious to satisfy the European powers of his pacific intentions, and before many days they will be invited to a Congress, where a solution of the Italian difficulty will be proposed, which will deserve support for its liberal character. Prince Napoleon is said to be indefatigable in his efforts for an amicable settlement of all differences among European powers. Orders have been given for the dismantling of all the ships at Brest, and for the French Admiral to haul down his flag. Indeed what was called the ocean squadron has ceased to exist.

The United States steamer Powhatan had got on shore near Woosung, but it was expected that she would be got off un injured.

The National Zeitung states, in a letter from Frankfort-on-the-Maine, that Count de Chamberg has arrived from Hague, and it is intended to hold a conference of Legationists at Weistaden during the month of August.

The Proque Gazette says that a fearful fire broke out in the town of Klosterter, containing about one hundred and sixty-five houses and one thousand inhabitants, few of whom saved their goods or houses.

The London Post says that Garibaldi has sent a circular to all the free States of Italy, declaring his army to be ready at any moment to continue the Italian war of independence.

Garibaldi has issued the following, dated Suere, July 19:—

"However political affairs may go under present circumstances, it is the duty of Italians not only not to lay down their arms and manifest discouragement, but to swell their ranks and show Europe that, guided by the heroic Victor Emanuel, they are ready again to confront the vicissitudes of war, in whatever form they may present themselves."

The Paris Patrie contradicts the report about Prince Napoleon being charged with the mission to Vienna.

A dispatch from Brescia announces the death of the Duke of Abrantes, second son of the famous Junot. He was wounded at the battle of Solferino. The thigh had to be amputated, and the patient did not long survive the operation.

The body of the Prince Windischgratz, who fell at the battle of Solferino, and which, it will be remembered, was discovered by the French in the midst of a heap of slain, and handed over to the Austrians, was brought to Prague on the 17th July, and deposited in the garrison church.

The compensation obtained by the American Minister at Rome for Mr. Perkins, was 400 scudi, instead of £400 as reported. The amount is about equal to $200.

The Times' correspondent says that Count de Persigny had left Paris on his return to London.

The Minister of War had addressed to all the colonels of regiments to send home all soldiers whose absence had been recalled after the declaration of war against Austria, and also all those who are entitled by their services to leave of absence for six months, that they may be at the disposal of the farmers, who may require them for getting in the harvest.

No change is to be noticed in the commercial situation of France.

The accounts from the agricultural districts are not unfavorable. The wheat crop has not sustained much injury. The barley crop was not expected to be productive, but the stock on hand is immense. The crop of oats will probably be more productive than was expected a few days since; the harvest altogether will exceed that of a good ordinary year, and there will be an overplus for exportation.

A letter to the London Post states that Count Colerado, the Austrian Ambassador to Rome, was expected at Vienna, whence he will proceed Zurich. The Vienna correspondent of the London Times, says, that although Count Colerado had an audience with the Emperor on the 28th of July, and was long closeted with the Minister for Foreign Affairs, he is not likely to leave for Zurich until the beginning of the coming week. The same correspondent says, for a time a very unfriendly feeling towards England prevailed there, but the wrath of the Austrians is rapidly subsiding. The promise of the Emperor of the French to put his army and navy on a peace footing, has made a great impression on the Austrian financial world. The Count de Bonneville will return here as the representative of France.

PUBLIC PRINTING.

In order to do the public printing of these two colonies, we understand that Mr. E. King has received the appointment of Queen's printer, at a yearly salary of £300. Whilst we wish that gentleman every honorable success, we cannot view the appointment as necessary. One half of his salary will have to be borne by this colony, and we ask the property holders who in a short time will be taxed for the support of the government, if they are willing to be taxed for a sinecure? Printing is as much a mechanical employment as carpentering or blacksmithing. Hence government might with as much propriety appoint a Queen's carpenter, or blacksmith, as a Queen's printer. The latter is one of those exploded offices—and here uselessly expensive—that in the organization of this young colony we can well afford to dispense with. There are three printing establishments now in Victoria, and to choose one by preference to do the printing, without asking all to estimate, is neither just nor honorable; and is deserving of that condemnation at the hands of the people to which all unfair attempts to render the government unnecessarily expensive should be treated. Economy in everything—when we pay the expenses as we shall have to do ultimately—is a cardinal principle that cannot be too often enjoined; but if government be allowed to give a salary and besides that to contract, as it has done, without soliciting competition, it but shows how little it cares for the debt in which it involves the country, so long as a sinister object can be attained, and how necessary it is to check its extravagance. In March last the proprietor of the Colonist was sent for and offered the public printing by the Colonial Secretary; but he scornfully rejected the proposal as an insult, when offered in barter for the independence of his paper. That gentleman was then told that we viewed printing as a mere mechanical employment; that whoever worked best and cheapest should have it; that like all other public work it should be offered to public competition as the surest mode to have it well and cheaply done: but that we were not purchaseable; that no printing, no money, no interest, could bribe the British Colonist not to publish the smallest iota which we conscientiously believed it our duty to disclose. Finding that the British Colonist could not be induced to sell its independence—to enrich itself by fleecing the public; then that abortive attempt to crush the Colonist was made, within a fortnight after, by a mass of corruption on whose tombstone will yet be carved the hangman's rope, and beneath an epitaph inscribed "The would-be Stranglers of a Free Press!" Taking, therefore, no selfish view of this question, we demand that the public printing shall be given out by fair and honest competition, and none other, and that public money shall be paid for printing, and not for looking at printers.

GAZETTE. - To the politeness of Capt. King we are indebted for a copy of the first number of the "Government Gazette for the Colonies of Vancouver Island and British Columbia," published "by authority" on Saturday last, by Leonard McClure. It is an 8 by 10 sheet of 16 pages, and will be issued weekly. Its typographical appearance reflects great credit on the publisher. The news by Forwood defers a notice of contents.

Won't Go.—On Friday a posse of police summoned the Indians at the north end of town to leave; but they refused to go. They are a great nuisance, rendering property in their quarter valueless. Their camp is a perfect Bedlam; and one of the greatest dens of vice and crime ever permitted in a Christian community. Where's Bulwer Lytton's dispatch No. 19?

The Forwood arrived on Saturday from San Francisco, in 4 days and 8 hours, whilst the Northerner was nearly two weeks, and by that means kept our mail nearly a week behind its time.

Another memorial in relation to San Juan has been circulated very secretly for signatures. Contents, Quien Sabe?

Thanks to Wells, Fargo & Co., Freeman & Co., and Hibben & Carswell, for exchanges.

PROSPERITY.—Three more brick buildings are commenced: Webster & Co., Yates street; Hibben & Carswell, Stationers' Hall; and K. Gambitz, near corner of Yates and Government streets.

When will the victimized owners of New Westminster lots be prepared to notify the government that they demand their money back? Money or a mission to Downing Street!

NEW PAPER.—A weekly newspaper to be called the New Westminster Times will be issued next Saturday from the Government Gazette Office. Proprietor's name not made public. After an absentee Governor, Judge, Attorney General, Treasurer, and Head of Police, New Westminster will be delighted to learn that the climax will be capped by an absentee newspaper. From the prospectus we learn that it will be printed in English and not in Chinook, the diplomatic language of northern courts. The more the better.

Wells, Fargo & Co. shipped by Northerner, $9,136.

NEW AD'S.—Action to-morrow, J. A. McCrea; Cigars, Suro & Co; Consignees, str Forwood; Baker Wanted, B. Derham; Information wanted of Patrick Kelley; Revolving Rifle, Colonial Hotel; Book-keeper wanted, A. B., Colonist office.

SERMONS AT THE CHURCH OF THE ADVENT.—The Rev. Mr. Sheepshank and the Rev. Mr. Dundas, who arrived on the Golden Age, preached yesterday afternoon and evening at the Church of the Advent. The reverend gentlemen are recently from England, and their sermons are spoken of as powerful and eloquent. They were delivered extempore, and it is to be supposed, considering the very short time they have been in the city, without any preparation. One of the gentlemen is a graduate of Cambridge, and the other of Oxford. We have not learned where they are to be stationed, but suppose they are en route for British Columbia. The people in that colony will certainly have the privilege of hearing preachers of no ordinary ability.—S. F. Herald.

Three Days Later News from England.

Arrival of the Forwood.

In the House of Lords August 1, the Earl of Granville said: It was yet impossible to fix the day beyond which important measures would not be read a second time.

Lord Elgin said in reply to an inquiry, that he had impressed upon the Chinese Government, while negotiating the treaty of Shanghai, the importance of sanctioning the introduction of British salt, but had failed, though he believed a different result might be arrived at, if the Chinese authorities could be convinced that their revenue would not suffer for the change.

In the House of Commons, the increased income tax bill was ordered to a third reading. Sir C. Wood made a financial statement in respect to the Government of India. He estimated the expenditure of the war at £40,000,000, whilst the estimated revenue was only £35,800,000 leaving a deficiency of £4,200,000. This has already been partially provided for, but there are £5,000,000 still needed, and he proposed to raise this by a further loan. He thought there was no likelihood of any improvements in the financial affairs of India for two or three years to come. No great reduction could be made on the expenditure while the revenue could only be slightly increased by an additional tax on salt licenses, &c.

Mr. Bryant advocated a decent reduction of the army and curtailment in the civil service salaries, as the most efficient way of bringing about an improvement.

A resolution was adopted in favor of an additional £5,000,000 loan. On the 2d, in the House of Commons, Monckton Milner moved an address to her Majesty, praying her to enter into negotiations with the United States for the purpose of preventing assaults and cruelties upon seamen engaged in traffic between the two countries, and of bringing to justice the perpetrators of such offenses.

The Attorney-General said the Government had directed its attention to the subject. He would never consent to giving the jurisdiction to foreign Consuls. The only method would be either to facilitate the extradition to have recourse to the ordinary tribunals, or to deal with the matter in the same manner as with seamen's contracts. The motion was agreed to.

Ex-President Pierce has passed through Liverpool en route for the Lake District. He was expected to sail for New York in about a fortnight.

The Earl of Minto, father-in-law of Lord John Russell, is dead.

Mr. Labouchere had been created a peer. Some serious strikes were occurring in London. The carpenters were demanding a reduction in their hours of labor, and the employees of the gas companies were demanding increased wages, and for some time London was in danger of being left in total darkness.

The Queen and the royal family sailed round the squadron in the river at Spithead on Saturday, July 30. Foyal salutes were fired, and the Russian squadron joined in the demonstrations of respect.

The London Herald has the following: We have reason to believe that Mr. Dallas has recently placed in the hands of Lord John Russell a dispatch from Washington, in which it is stated that the United States Government have resolved to abandon privateering, and thus to accept the declaration respecting this portion of the maritime law agreed upon at the Congress at Paris in 1856.

The Grand Duchess Marie, of Russia, arrived Dover, July 31, having encountered a rough passage from Ostend.

The report of amendments to the service court bill was brought up, and after some discussion the report was adopted, and the bill read the third time and passed.

Lord Stanley called the attention of Government to the admission of British salt into China, stating that the supply of salt to a population of 300,000,000 had been a monopoly in the hands of the Chinese. He concluded by asking what steps had been taken to introduce it.

Lord Elgin could not answer the question, as the correspondence had not been made public.

A resolution enabling the Government to raise in the United Kingdom for the Government of India, £5,000,000, sterling, to meet the demands of the present year, was agreed to, and ordered to be reported.

The amount of the debt of India, on the first of May, 1858, returned at the sum of £60,704,084, of which £23,165,000 was the registered debt, and the rest floating.

India.

The dates from India are to July 17th. The disaffection among the late companies of the European troops is increasing. At Burmahpore they are in open meeting, and have entrenched themselves in barracks and elected officers to command them. The Fusiliers have followed the example of the Bengal troops. Central India is quiet. The Times' Calcutta correspondent says the campaign has been left to Oude police, and the Europeans have withdrawn under cover. The rebels were still 6000 strong, but were in terrible distress.

Marine Disasters.

The ship Glance, from New York, bound for Bremen, took fire on the 30th July, and was run ashore near Bremen Haven. The vessel was burned down to the water's edge.

The ship Abbey Blanchard, for New Orleans, took fire at Bordeaux on the 29th ult. The amount of damage was not ascertained.

The ship Vancouver has been totally wrecked on South Banks, near Shanghai. All the crew were saved, and had arrived at Shanghai.

The ship Saxonville, from Boston, for Hong Kong, put into Mauritius, June 26, in a leaky condition. Part of her cargo had been thrown overboard.

The ship Robert, from Gottenburg for Boston, sprung a leak near Skagen, and was run ashore near Jutland on the 25th of July. About 500 persons landed from her at Hyerting.

The ship Alex. Wire, from Marseilles for New York, has been strained off Point Corles, near Gibraltar.

ARRIVAL OF THE NORTHERNER.—The Northerner arrived yesterday afternoon with the mails, very few passengers, and but little freight for this place. She was detained over a day on Swan Island Bar, Columbia River. A small quantity of freight was discharged from her at San Juan. She left in the evening for San Francisco.

The word "crinoline" has not yet found its way into the dictionaries. Originally the name of a Parisian modiste—one Madame Crinoline, who kept a set of dressmaking rooms in the Rue de la Paix—it eventually came into use, to denote the article most in repute at her establishment. She it was who, by the invention of horse hair woven into cloth, and manufactured into petticoats, enabled the fair sex to dispense with that clumsy abomination which always placed them, if not in a headlong hurry, certainly in a bustle—The name of the petticoat was given from that of the inventor, as has frequently happened; the crinoline, the petticoat, was derived from Cinoline, the dressmaker.

QUESTIONS FOR A DEBATING SOCIETY.—If a victorious soldier is crowned with laurels, should a sailor be crowned with bays? If a man makes his gate fast, can his gate still be slow?

Does a captain get half sens over when he stays too long at Port?

If I take a friend apart does he come in pieces?

Do we find any perfume in a rose until it leaves? If it blows do we ever find it blue?

A little absence is wholesome after a surfeit; the most amiable people if too long together, are apt to become weary of each other's presence. Absence diminishes small passions and augments the great, as the wind extinguishes the taper but increases the fire. Yet too learned in love advise a little absence, for the sake of the pleasure of returning.

"One word more and I have done." How we dread to hear this sentence from the lips of a speaker at a public meeting. It is always a sure indication that he is bracing for a fresh start.
